

Mr. Will Jones III

William Jones III is dedicated to exposing the impact of drug use in minority communities. He founded TIEDC to foster progress while simultaneously curbing the negative social, health, and economic consequences of illicit drugs. Partnering with key US politicians, national drug policy advisers, and leaders around Washington D.C., Jones is on a mission to impact policies that will keep illicit drugs out of reach for youths and curb drug industries disproportionate targeting of communities of color. Mr. Jones graduated Cum Laude from Columbia International University (CIU) with a Bachelor of Arts in Communications and Business.
